

Now you have two problems

The first problem is cartographic. How do you graphically show a user a map with millions of datapoints?